

Create a Technical File. Step 2 - Collecting Documents

In most cases the main evidence supporting the compliance of the product must come from your supplier. They can co-operate with you via an INVITE. This is an e-mail generated from your account in the platform asking them to help you building the technical file.

We have assigned to each of the requirements in our database the possible document type that can be used to sign off this aspect. For example a test report, a certificate, artwork etc.

Your supplier has limited access to your file only, just enough to complete his task. When he has finished his task he has no more access. You can review the uploaded documents and assign additional tasks when required.

ProductIP is the support office for the use of the platform, for you and for your supplier.

There is no extra charge for you or your supplier when co-operating via this way.
